At that time the Francis Sturges of those days was an upper grade pupil, but Billie was under my care.

He was good-hearted, generous to a fault, and impulsive in his friendships, and, having gained that, I became very fond of him. Many a time I have soothed him through some fancied trouble, and he immediately forgave the transgressor.

I tell you this to show his early nature, which I am sure could not have changed, by reason of his peculiar temperament. He was lovable and affectionate,

Rev. J. Murvin Pettit,
New Brunswick, N.J.

My dear Mr. Pettit,

From the year 1888 to 1895, I was a member of St. John's Parish, entering very actively into its spiritual life, and therefore I am feeling very deeply for all the members of the Conference, Sturges families.

Mrs. Hall and I were confirmed in the same class by dear old Bishop Scarborough, prepared under the Rev. Eliza B. Loyce, and later I taught at the private school
